

Dr Matthew BellAsia Pacific Leader, Climate Change and Sustainability Services, Ernst & Young
Brisbane

Dr Matthew Bell is a Brisbane-based partner and EY's Asia Pacific Leader of Climate Change and Sustainability Services. His multidisciplinary team of scientists, engineers, economists and policy specialists support some of Asia Pacific's largest companies and governments on their sustainability and climate agendas.

Dr Bell is a registered greenhouse and energy auditor, a published doctoral-level scientist, and has previously managed some of the UK government's major climate change policy programmes. He chaired the International Integrated Reporting Council's working group on Value Creation. He sits on the Board of the Carbon Market Institute in Australia, on the advisory board of the University of Western Sydney's Global Centre for Land-Based Innovation, and is a visiting lecturer at the University of Sydney.
