Asian Corporate Governance Association

The Asian Corporate Governance Association (ACGA) is an independent, non-profit membership association dedicated to promoting long-term, systemic improvements in corporate governance in Asia through research, advocacy, and education. ACGA is well known for its regional "CG Watch" surveys of corporate governance in Asia, carried out in collaboration with CLSA Asia-Pacific Markets, and for its practical "White Papers" on corporate governance in individual markets, such as Japan, India and Taiwan.

ACGA promotes constructive dialogue between key groups, including institutional investors, companies and financial regulators. It provides independent input to Asian governments on policy and regulatory issues, and organises regular discussion forums for investors and companies.

ACGA’s membership network comprises more than 90 companies, including global investment and financial institutions, Asian listed companies, professional firms and educational bodies based in Asia and around the world.

We are pleased to welcome Norges Bank Investment Management (NBIM) as our first “Foundation Sponsor” from January 2012. Welcome Letter & Acknowledgements

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the “Asian Business Dialogue on Corporate Governance 2012”, our twelfth annual conference, first major event in Thailand and our first event focussing on ASEAN as a theme. We are delighted to be in Bangkok this year and look forward to a stimulating series of discussions on “The Governance of Economic and Financial Integration in Southeast Asia”, as well as other current issues in Asian corporate governance. The purpose of the Asian Business Dialogue is to bring together directors, managers, investors, professionals and officials working in the governance field for a productive sharing of views and experiences. We aim to make the programme timely (updates on recent developments), relevant (discuss new markets and significant issues) and practical (workshops on functional areas and emerging challenges). We hope you take away many good ideas and insights.

We are honoured to have Mr. Surong Bulakul, Chief Financial Officer, PTT Plc., Thailand as our Gala Dinner speaker tonight. We very much look forward to his speech, “The Energy Sector in ASEAN: Opportunities and Challenges”.

We are also pleased to welcome Mr. Richard Marshall, Former Director, Global Cyber Security Management, Department of Homeland Security, United States, as our keynote speaker immediately after lunch, when we shift gears and look at the topical issue of cyber security: “The Changing Global Landscape of Cyber Security: Implications for Asia”.

As always, we could not organise this conference without the generous financial and organisational support of a large number of companies and individuals. We are honoured this year to have the support of four PTT Group companies – PTT Plc, PTTEP, PTT Global Chemical and Thaioil – as a Principal Sponsor, and we would like to thank Khun Thanarak and his team at PTTEP for coordinating their contribution.

We would like to welcome another Thai company, Central Group, a leading property, retail and hotel group, as a Workshop Sponsor. We thank them also for their confidence in ACGA and this event.

We again owe a large debt of gratitude to several ACGA members for their generous and continuing support for the Asian Business Dialogue:

- Principal sponsors: Aberdeen Asset Management Asia and CLSA Asia-Pacific Markets
- Supporting sponsors: Deloitte and Noble Group
- Luncheon sponsor: Capital Group
- Gala Dinner sponsor: China Universal Asset Management
- Workshop sponsor: Conston-Smith Asset Management

We have been very fortunate this year in having three leading Thai organisations as Supporting Organisations. They are the Government Pension Fund (GPF), the Thai Institute of Directors (IOD) and the Thai Listed Companies Association (TLCA). We would like to thank Khun Sapowadee and her team at the GPF, Dr. Bandit and his team at the IOD, and Khun Pensri and her team at TLCA, for their friendly assistance, advice and support.

We would also like to express our sincere thanks to the following organisations and individuals:

- Khun Pote, Khun Kanchit and their colleagues at Lombard Investments, Inc.
- Dominic Scriven, Phan Minh Tuan and the team at Dragon Capital in Vietnam.
- Benjamin McCarron, formerly of Sustainalytics / Responsible Research, Singapore.
- Rajifah binti Ramli of DIGI Malaysia.

Finally, a very big thank you to all our speakers and delegates for devoting time, effort and resources to participate in this year’s Asian Business Dialogue. We look forward to your feedback and any suggestions you may have on how we can make our 2013 conference – to be held in Seoul, Korea – even better.

Your sincerely,

Jamie Allen

Welcome and Summary of Day 1
Mr. Robert Morrison, Chairman, Kiwibank, Wellington; and ACGA Council Member

Parallel Workshops

Track 1 – For companies: Company Secretary Panel – The unsung heroes of board governance
Much of the debate about board governance today focuses on the role of board committees and directors, especially independent directors. Although not surprising, given the emphasis placed on them in codes of best practice, such discussion arguably devotes insufficient attention to the expanding role of company secretaries in corporate governance. An experienced company secretary can make a big difference to the effectiveness of boards, committees and even the performance of individual directors. Indeed, it is hard to imagine a successful board without one.

This workshop will discuss how the role of company secretaries is changing around Asia, the main internal and external challenges they face, and how they can play more of a governance advisory role within their own organisations.

Moderator: Ms. Pensri Suteerasarn, President, Thai Listed Companies Association, Bangkok

Speakers:
- Mrs. April Chan, Company Secretary, CLP Holdings, Hong Kong
- Mrs. Phatchada Muenthong, Director of Governance, Risk Management and Compliance, BigC Plc, Bangkok

Track 2 – For investors: Audit Quality and Regulation in Asia – What questions should investors be asking?
Shortly after the enactment of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act in the US in 2002, the issue of auditor independence and regulation started to find its way onto the regulatory agendas of most governments in Asia. This trend intensified following the global financial crisis and the emergence of numerous accounting frauds and failures of corporate governance, leading to the inevitable question: What did the auditor know? Auditors today are under more pressure than ever to know their clients, exercise professional scepticism, qualify accounts and explain themselves to investors. Yet there are growing concerns that downward pressure on fees and more lucrative careers outside audit are causing a brain drain in the industry. What is the current and future capacity of the audit profession in Asia in terms of personnel and depth of experience? To what extent do human-resource or other constraints affect the quality of auditing? How effective are audit regulatory bodies in Asia in helping to improve audit quality and the sustainability of the audit profession? Are they sufficiently independent of the CPA firms they are regulating?

Moderator: Mr. Lee White, CEO, The Institute of Chartered Accountants in Australia, Sydney

Speakers:
- Mr. N. Venkatram, Managing Partner, Audit, Deloitte Haskins and Sells, Mumbai
- Mr. Mirza Baig, Director, Governance and Sustainable Investments, F&C Investments, Asia

Corporate governance is becoming an increasingly important aspect of the work of public-equity investors in Asia. From assessing governance quality when making investments to calculating the impact of potentially value-destroying transactions and capital-raising exercises, portfolio managers need to be alert to a wide range of governance risks and regulatory loopholes. After more than a decade of sustained reform in corporate governance in Asia, what do portfolio managers see as the most substantive areas of improvement? Which things have changed the least? What do investors look for when considering the quality of a company’s governance, and how have their portfolio companies evolved over the years? Can financial regulators be relied upon to protect minority shareholders, or is it still largely a case of buyer-beware? And what is the best way to create a relationship of trust with a controlling shareholder?

Government Pension Fund
The Government Pension Fund (GPF) is a defined contribution fund. It was established on March 27th, 1997 under the Government Pension Fund Act B.E. 2539 (1996).

The GPF is designed to provide an add-on defined contribution scheme to the existing defined benefit scheme administered by the Ministry of Finance (Old Civil Services Scheme) and to promote contractual saving and long-term investments.

Contributing membership is mandatory for eligible officials who join the government service after the fund’s inception (March 27th, 1997). Membership, however, is voluntary for officials who entered the government service prior to the Fund’s inception. GPF members will receive two composite portions of retirement income: one from the old civil service (PAGS scheme), financed by the government out of the annual budget, and the other from GPF, which came from the contributions of the government and the member plus the investment return made by GPF.

To provide security for member’s retirement, GPF aims to obtain a good balance between preservation of capital and growth of return under the pre-determined risk level, and to ultimately achieve a higher return than long-term inflation. GPF strongly believes in the benefits of risk diversification and adopts this principle in its investment process. The Strategic Asset Allocation comprises various types of securities for diversification. In addition, the Fund has a policy to outsource 20-30% of its asset under management to external managers in order to diversify risk as well as to gain technology & expertise transfer.

Also, as one of the country’s largest institutional investors, GPF plays a leading role as a responsible investor by both adopting and encouraging corporate governance and ESG practices in the investment community.

Welcome Letter & Acknowledgements

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the “Asian Business Dialogue on Corporate Governance 2012”, our twelfth annual conference, first major event in Thailand and our first event focussing on ASEAN as a theme. We are delighted to be in Bangkok this year and look forward to a stimulating series of discussions on “The Governance of Economic and Financial Integration in Southeast Asia”, as well as other current issues in Asian corporate governance.

The purpose of the Asian Business Dialogue is to bring together directors, managers, investors, professionals and officials working in the governance field for a productive sharing of views and experiences. We aim to make the programme timely (updates on recent developments), relevant (discuss new markets and significant issues) and practical (workshops on functional areas and emerging challenges). We hope you take away many good ideas and insights.

We are honoured to have Mr. Surong Bulakul, Chief Financial Officer, PTTC Co., Thailand as our Gala Dinner speaker tonight. We very much look forward to his speech, “The Energy Sector in ASEAN: Opportunities and Challenges”.

We are also pleased to welcome Mr. Richard Marshall, Former Director, Global Cyber Security Management, Department of Homeland Security, United States, as our keynote speaker immediately after lunch, when we shift gears and look at the topical issue of cyber security: “The Changing Global Landscape of Cyber Security: Implications for Asia”.

As always, we could not organise this conference without the generous financial and organisational support of a large number of companies and individuals. We are honoured this year to have the support of four PTT Group companies – PTT Plc., PTTEP, PTT Global Chemical and Thaioil – as a Principal Sponsor, and we would like to thank Khun Thearasak and his team at PTTPE for coordinating their contribution.

We would like to welcome another Thai company, Central Group, a leading property, retail and hotel group, as a Workshop Sponsor. We thank them also for their confidence in ACGA and this event.

We again owe a large debt of gratitude to several ACGA members for their generous and continuing support for the Asian Business Dialogue:

- Principal sponsors: Aberdeen Asset Management Asia and CLSA Asia-Pacific Markets
- Supporting sponsors: Deloitte and Noble Group
- Luncheon sponsor: Capital Group
- Gala Dinner sponsor: China Universal Asset Management
- Workshop sponsor: Corston-Smith Asset Management

We have been very fortunate this year in having three leading Thai organisations as Supporting Organisations. They are the Government Pension Fund (GPF), the Thai Institute of Directors (IOD) and the Thai Listed Companies Association (TLCA). We would like to thank Khun Sopawadee and her team at TLCA, and Khun Pensri and her team at TLCA, for their friendly assistance, advice and support.

We would also like to express our sincere thanks to the following organisations and individuals:

We look forward to your feedback and any suggestions you may have on how we can make our 2013 conference – to be held in Seoul, Korea – even better.

Your sincerely,
Jamie Allen
